

Jagat

Now, the content has been made searchable by users of Telegram for their own needs, because of the new searchable metadata to interact with the Metalanguage for semantic web implementation we have invented for them and for scores of future internet search developments in the world.

(Click above link to see demo of the Metalanguage app we have invented, called Knyte Space, for implementing its commercial application semantic search)

The first page is the limit to what we have to deliver in 2 months as a functioning demo, so we don't need to work on the below till we are successful on Telegram with the mentions of 1st Page.

2. Product Version 2 - (After implementation and growth of version 1) :

The new users to discover the content of others will now be coming to a Telegram bot to search for content of all kinds from our bot. As Google has done for the internet, we have made a large amount of public content on Telegram searchable. Only that, we did it democratically, as a result of the language we have invented to enable search in semantic web implementation..

For creator: To promote their own content to the public even without a single subscriber or follower.

For consumer: Search-specific public content of such users will get discovered by users.

Pico economics - Business Model. We will think of more ways of monetizing over time based on usage, tokens, utilizing Telegram wallet, blockchain-based currencies, and essentially look to be the most important search app on Telegram which is comfortable with currencies that both traditional and contemporary world uses.

WHY TELEGRAM?

One knows what Telegram is as its users. But, does one know what Telegram is from the perspective of those who are attempting to build billion-dollar potential businesses on top of Telegram?

For now, let us just know from one such team, Steve and Nishchal, that, Telegram will be recognized as the most user-centric social app in the world for the new age. Telegram will also be recognized as the most relevant social app for creators who care about their monetization. Its founder Mr. Durov, will be recognized as a social web hero one day. We will learn much about Jagat's future versions from reading/watching him and Telegram's future announcements.
